They had suffered from rheumatism, arthritis, neurasthenia, myocarditis, enlarged spleen, and aortic systolic murmur. He had endeavored to exclude all cases in which a palpable liver would come from other causes or a dilated right heart from any cause, etc. Hepatic cirrhosis in a large majority of cases was but one expression of an effect of a systemic poisoning. Some Experiments on the Nature of Vaccine Virus. Syphilis was found in the autopsies of nine; in most of these alcoholism was present. Smith reported a case of a hard drinker from whom he drew a basinful of ascitic fluid. Dilatation of the vessels might be compensatory, but would not prevent ascites. If you are at an office or shared network, you can ask the network administrator to run a scan across the network looking for misconfigured or infected devices. Park, of New York, reviewed his experiments with monkeys and also with calves, also the use of the filter. Sears, of Boston, said that aetiologically, alcohol was the most important factor; nine patients denied its use. It showed that the liver was capable of undertaking a work on a very large scale in this direction; that there was an important compensatory mechanism; even in these cases of advanced cirrhosis the liver was still capable of doing much more work than was ordinarily imposed on it.
