However, there are a few instructions which are common to all treatments. You may still itch for up to a month after treatment but this doesn't mean that the treatment has not worked. The female mites burrow under the skin and lay eggs daily. If you are on a personal connection, like at home, you can run an anti-virus scan on your device to make sure it is not infected with malware. When the flea bites. These hatch after a few days, more mites appear and the infection then spreads around the skin's surface. Just the thought of creepy crawlies under your skin, in your hair or in your bed may make you feel like throwing out your clothes and bed clothes and disinfecting the house. All of the treatments act against the insect's nervous system, which young eggs don't yet possess. People are usually bitten while asleep at night and again develop 'hives'. The lotion must be applied to the whole of the body, sparing the face and neck in adults but paying particular attention to the finger webs, behind the ears and the genitalia. This is usually worse at night or after a hot bath.
